

PRODUCTION MANAGER WITH FOCUS ON SAP ERP SYSTEMS AND PROCESSES (F/M/X)

Blum is an innovative family-owned company with international market presence, specializing in high-tech furniture fittings for modern living environments. We deliver our products to 156 countries. Did you know that we manage over 7,000 individual items? Our production planners ensure that these items are in the right place at the right time across our eight factories.

YOU

- ... are planning and managing a production area by developing efficient production schedules to ensure timely manufacturing
- ... are optimizing existing production processes through systematic analysis and proposing improvements to enhance efficiency and productivity continuously
- ... are collaborating closely with other departments to ensure all relevant information is available for smooth production and to proactively identify production bottlenecks
- ... are monitoring production progress, proactively addressing deviations, and adjusting planning as needed to meet production goals

WE

- ... value your in-depth understanding of production processes and systems, especially SAP ERP, and your ability to apply this knowledge to optimize our operations
- ... expect strong communication skills and a team-oriented approach that fosters effective collaboration with internal and external stakeholders, contributing to problem-solving in challenging situations
- ... rely on your flexibility and adaptability. Those values are crucial for responding swiftly to changes in the production environment and ensuring optimal production planning
- ... highly value a solid education (FH, university), ideally in Supply Chain Management, or relevant professional experience
